Take the Test, Take Control

Together, we can prevent HIV/AIDS, one voice, one experience, one community at a time

E-cards are another option for informing partners that they may have been exposed to an STD. Electronic cards are sent confidentially or anonymously.

National HIV Testing Day was developed in response to the growing number of HIV infections in communities of color and other heavily impacted communities. Today, CDC estimates approximately 21 percent of the 1.3M Americans living with HIV are unaware of their HIV status. National Association of Persons with AIDS believes voluntary HIV counseling and testing is a critical first step in taking control and responsibility over one's health, hence our message: "Take the Test, Take Control .
